

Laura Sigal

Laura is admitted to practice in Melbourne and New York. Over a long career, commencing in 1986, she has worked in sports, entertainment and media law. In addition to working with the AAA, Laura works with the PFA and has worked with the AFLPA and for the ACA. She is a member of the Steering Committee of the Sports Law Division of the Law Institute of Victoria, ANZSLA and the U.S. Sports Lawyers Association. Before moving to Australia, Laura was Assistant Executive Director of the New York Local of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists and had worked with the Major League Baseball Players Association, as well as baseball agents. She has negotiated collective bargaining agreements, individual employment contracts, agents' contracts, and agreements in settlement of disputes. Laura, has successfully represented baseball players, sports agents, sportscasters, announcers, and others in numerous arbitration cases. She holds a BA from Carnegie-Mellon University, a JD from Fordham University Law School, and an LLM from Vrije Universiteit Brussel (Hon), as well as a Graduate Diploma in legal practice from the Leo Cussen Institute. She is fluent in Spanish.